An "extravaganza" you won't see on television but right on the stage of Oceana High school will be conducted Saturday, May 18.

It's the seventh annual Miss Pacifica Pageant, and from all indications this perennial parade of beauty and personality promises to be the best ever, sponsors say.

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the event, which will begin at 8 p.m. and will run for about two hours.

Eight talented young ladies will vie for the honor of being referred to as Miss Pacifica for the next year and to participate in the various official activities the queen of the city is invited to.

Five judges will decide the winner. They'll base their decision on the appearance, poise, personality and talent shown by each candidate.

The lucky winner will receive a huge Miss Pacifica trophy, a crown and a pot pourri of other prizes that include:

A $100 wardrobe allowance, a bathing suit, luggage, Miss Pacifica stationery, six pair of hose, record album, travel kit, free hair shampoo and setting, four theater tickets, two free dinners and a $10 savings account.

She'll also receive the traditional winner's bouquet, cut the Miss Pacifica cake and will be Pacifica's representative in the San Mateo County Fair Dream Girl contest.

The first runnerup will receive a trophy, a $50 savings bond, a bathing suit and other prizes.

The second runnerup will receive a trophy, $25 savings bond, a bathing suit and other prizes.

A special trophy will be given to the candidate who her fellow contestants decide has the best personality.

All eight contestants will receive a trophy, a bathing suit, a wristlet corsage and theatre tickets.

A $25 savings bond will be awarded to the candidate who has sold the most tickets to the pageant. The ticket-selling contest, however, will have no bearing on the outcome of the judging, pageant officials point out.

Each contestant has been participating in a rigorous training program—teaching them such things as poise and modeling.

The candidates, their school affiliation and their sponsors are:

Pat Bushard, 17, of 208 Modoc place, Terra Nova, S & S Developers.

Sandra Finley, 17, of 1423 Flores drive, Terra Nova, Town & Country beauty Salon.

Kit Hankins, 16, of 384 Seaside drive, Oceana, Sea Bowl.

On Page 14 of today's Post, we've published a few of the kind words you've been saying about our first anniversary and the job we've been doing. You'll also find a reproduction of our first issue.

Police Week Proclaimed

May 12-18 has been designated "Police Week" in Daly City by Mayor Joseph Verducci.

In proclaiming the week, Verducci said, "the citizens of our city have been fortunate in having one of the finest police departments in the nation protecting their rights, their liberties and their happiness."

He urged them to take advantage of the opportunity to honor the police officers of our community and to provide a wider base of understanding of their daily work.

"Our first line of defense against the enemies of freedom is our law enforcement agencies."

Elementary Unit Votes

'No' on Plan

The Jefferson Elementary school district formally voted "no" Monday on the San Mateo county School Reorganization committee's proposed plan to unify five school districts into one.

The board of trustees accepted a six-page statement of reasons, drafted by Dr. Donald Calvert, for voting against the county committee's plan.

This would combine the elementary school districts of Jefferson, Brisbane, Bayshore and Laguna Salada and the Jefferson High school district.

The county committee's plan will be voted on by the boards and the committee next Wednesday.

Calvert, a trustee, elaborated on five main considerations in the board's reluctance to accept the county plan. They are:

Size of school population; geographic shape, size and community of interest; financial support; partitioning of the existing high school, and public acceptance of the Jefferson Elementary proposal.

Only Mrs. Katherine Mullin, a member of the county committee, voted against the board's stand.

The Jefferson trustees would prefer a unification of their district with just Brisbane and Bayshore.

Calvert said a school population should not be so large that the administrative staff and the board of trustees cannot be familiar with individual schools, principals and teachers.

Too Large
A district which approaches 50,000 enrollment is too large for this area, he said, and added that strength of community of identification and density of population should be vital considerations.

Jeff Students Enter Pageant

Two Jefferson High school students announced their entry into the Miss Daly City contest last week.

Susan Freire, 372 Bellevue street, and Diana Pucini, 210 Willets street, both 16 years old, turned in applications at the sponsoring chamber of commerce with offices at 6454 Mission street. Preliminaries are planned May 24 in the Coronado apartments. Finals will be held at the Ellis club in South San Francisco June 5.

To be eligible, a girl must be between 16 and 25, a resident of Daly City for at least six months, single and never married before. Tickets for the pageant are on sale at the office of The Post, 30 Park Plaza drive, and at chamber level.

High School Board Fails To Reach Accord on Unity

Unable to take a stand against unification, Jefferson Union High school trustees Monday nevertheless could not commit themselves to support it. Trustees said they could not oppose the principle of unification since the high school district itself had been unified for 40 years, comprising in its territory Jefferson, Bayshore, Brisbane and Laguna Salada elementary districts.

"If we have done it in the high school district, we should at least consider the county's proposal for unification," Cooper urged members to consider taking a leadership position to consider the issue from the elementary as well as the high school level.

However, both trustees Lyl Ingersoll and Elio Fontana said they "hated" unification. Ingersoll commenting "I have never been convinced that this (unification) is the way to go."

Ingersoll proposed that the Jefferson High school board approve the unification proposal because of its mandatory provisions for the sole purpose of getting it on the ballot to bring the issue to the voters to decide.

Trustee Dr. Jerry Miles said he did not think that the wealthier districts of Bayshore and Brisbane should be penalized by joining with the poorer districts of Laguna Salada. Dr. Miles, who (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Annex Now Up to Bayshore Voters

The next step in the annexation of Bayshore City by Daly City will be up to Bayshore residents July 2.

The Daly City council last week set a special election for that date after opponents of the annexation failed to muster the support of landowners with more than fifty percent of the assessed valuation involved in the annexation area.

The opponents, including the Cow Palace, Crown Cork and Seal, Schlage Lock company, S&W Foods and one individual homeowner, had only 37 percent, or $103,200, of the total assessed valuation of $1,282,500 in Bayshore.

They had reached a high of 43 percent, but J&P Enterprise, with a valuation of $51,125, and Bluestone corporation, with a valuation of $18,650, withdrew their objections before last week's special meeting.

The four councilmen each took a verbal swing at the directors of the Cow Palace who earlier last week reaffirmed their opposition and asked that the Cow Palace be excluded from the annexation.

Mayor Joseph Verducci sharply criticized the Cow Palace board of directors for standing still after the city council went "out of its way" to meet their wishes.

"They have put us in a position of reversing our field with our legislators in Sacramento. I just want to warn them, two can play that game," he said.

Verducci told the audience and state assistant attorney general Clayton Roche, representing the Cow Palace, that some of the directors had indicated they might withdraw their protest if the mayor, police chief, and fire chief wrote letters outlining the cooperation and services the directors would receive from the city.

"They were sent," he said. "We even went so far as to contact our legislator, Assemblyman Leo Ryan, indicating our feelings regarding city entities taxing agricultural districts," Verducci said. And he added:

"Further, we asked him to check with Charles Barrett, assistant attorney general, to see if the legislation met with the approval of the directors of the Cow Palace. To what further degree could we go?"

Councilman Francis Pace III said he could not understand why a board, whose basic concern is promoting activities of a statewide nature, should have any concern where they are situated.

"Who are they that we have to (Please See Page 2, Column 8)

O'Brien Gets 1 to 10 Years

Robert J. O'Brien, 30-year-old former employee of the state division of highways, was sentenced last week to serve on to ten years in state prison for involuntary manslaughter.

Superior Court Judge Frank E. Blum recommended that O'Brien, who was convicted of killing his estranged wife, be kept at the prison hospital facility at Vacaville for psychiatric treatment.

O'Brien had served a 90-day period of observation at Vacaville. Doctors there said they felt he would benefit by further treatment.

The defendant was convicted last November in the slaying of his wife, Kathleen, outside her Daly City home. O'Brien told authorities he was shifting a target pistol from one place to another in his car when it discharged accidentally.

Jefferson Summer School Scheduled

Elementary High School

The Jefferson Elementary School District summer school will be conducted from July 1 to July 26 at six schools in Daly City and Colma.

Pupils living east of Junipero Serra boulevard will attend either George Washington, Colma Upper or Woodrow Wilson schools. Those students living west of Junipero Serra will attend either Fernando Rivera, Thomas Edison or Benjamin Franklin schools.

Three 70-minute classes will be conducted between 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

Development classes will be held in arithmetic and reading including language arts. Enrollment in these classes will be limited to pupils who in the opinion of the teachers, could profit from additional work in the fundamentals.

Enrichment classes will include advanced reading, anthropology, arithmetic analysis, art appreciation, astronomy, creative writing, general science, homemaking, home mechanics, music appreciation, speech arts and world affairs.

A speech clinic will operate as part of the summer school program. Because of individual attention required, the class size has been limited to six students.

Transportation will not be provided by the district.

Jeff Board Can't Agree

(Continued from Page 1) lives in Pacifica, said that unification with South San Francisco and San Bruno, areas which contain industry and where Pacificans are employed, would be fairer for all concerned.

Trustees Monday received a report prepared by Superintendent Edward Morgan at their request analyzing all of the various proposals given by the five elementary school districts and listing their advantages and disadvantages. In addition, Morgan spoke off the record on some of the implications of the various unification proposals. The report listed the following advantages to unification of the Jefferson Union High school district: one board of trustees, teacher co-ordination, group specialized services, one budget, no competition for the taxpayers' dollar.

Disadvantages included: unlikely acceptance by voters, loss of local control and difficulty of communication.

The report listed no advantages to any proposals for splintering the present high school district—a stand the trustees already have taken.

Trustees decided to study the matter and definitely come up with a decision on unification at their meeting next week.

The contract for the demolition of the old Jefferson High school building has been awarded to low bidder Macco Salvage company for $27,450, Morgan reported.

Registration forms for the Jefferson Union High school district summer school are now being accepted, according to principal Louis J. Martin.

The summer school program will be held June 19 to August 9 at Westmoor High school.

Registration forms and program offerings are available at all district high schools, Martin said. Applications must be completed and returned to the student's school by May 24.

The regular program will include classes in English, mathematics, languages, science, social science, homemaking, arts, physical education and industrial arts. Driver training (behind the wheel) will be offered as a separate program for those who qualify.

Eight classes have been designated as enrichment classes. They are: About Communism, aerobics, space science, psychology, books and ideas, band, orchestra and arts and crafts.

Transportation will be furnished for students who live more than two miles from Westmoor. Applications must be signed by each student's parents and high school counselor.

Two new regulations will be in effect this year, Martin said. Students who drop from the program after ten school days will receive a failing grade and students who are absent more than three times will also be dropped from the program.

Classes will be in session from 8 to 10 a.m. and from 10 a.m. to noon. Dean of Girls, Barbara Miller, of Terra Nova High school will assist Martin.

Planners Approve Pacifica Project

Construction of a $10,000,000 apartment house project consisting of 170 high rise buildings on more than 46 acres facing Cabrillo highway in the Edgemar area was given a green light by Pacifica planning commissioners Monday despite a strong protest from nearby residents.

In approving plans proposed by the Oddstad Construction company by a four to one vote, the commission modified an apartment zone requested by company officials to a "planned community" zoning to give the city more control over the giant project.

Commissioner Paul Selmi, who favored the straight apartment zoning sought by the developers, cast the solo no vote against the rezoning.

Edward H. Maykel, representing the Oddstad company, said it is hoped to begin construction in June, 1964, and complete the project by May, 1966. He said a total of 1250 apartment units is planned.

Residents of Edgemar avenue and Manor Village presented the commission with a protest petition signed by 67 homeowners. In addition, a delegation of some 60 nearby residents appeared at the meeting.

The spokesman for the delegation, John S. Long, claimed that construction would create a serious drainage problem and traffic problems that would endanger children living in the vicinity. He asserted that there is insufficient school facilities for children who would be moving into apartments.

Spokesmen for the Oddstad company assured residents that no access to apartments would be provided on Edgemar avenue, and that all entrances and exits to buildings would face a new frontage road off the Cabrillo freeway.

The company's plans must now go to city councilmen for final approval. The new project, which will be constructed on a steep terrain to give a tremendous ocean view, will adjoin the Church of the Good Shepherd and houses in the 600 and 700 blocks of Edgemar avenue.

Another proposal to build an apartment project on less than an acre on Higgins way on the southern boundary of Linda Mar was put over until May 20, as the applicant, James Telegan, was recently injured in a boating accident.

density and strong community identification, such as San Francisco, "is more suited to a larger school population than a district of low population density and weak community identification, such as North San Mateo county," he said.

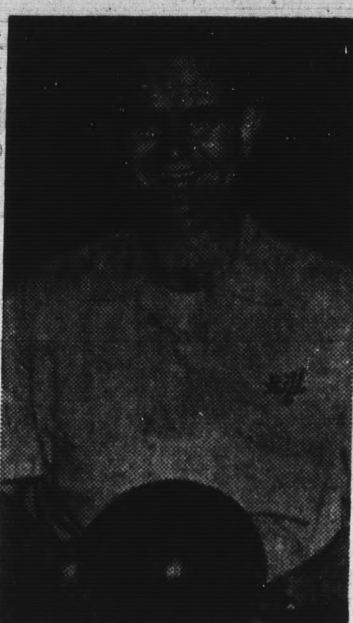

The development of the Crocker lands, the Christen ranch, Brisbane, 25 foot and 33-foot lots in Bayshore and Daly City, Doelger company developments and internal growth without tract building were listed as factors of potential growth in the area.

The trustees agreed with a Laguna Salada resolution that stated the "geographic boundaries of Jefferson Elementary and Laguna Salada fit into a pattern which would separate naturally into two unified districts."

The two districts "have little of common interest," Calvert pointed out. And he added:

"The county's master plan for highways shows a close connection of Laguna Salada with South San Francisco to the east through Westborough avenue, Sharp Park road, Hickey boulevard and Fessler boulevard.

"The configuration would place the extreme boundaries of the district far from each other and far from a central location where board meetings would be held and where administrative control was located.

go around them," he said, "and why do they want to set up a little island or bailiwick of their own. It shows planning of the worst order."

Councilman Edward Dennis asked if there were any board members in the audience. Roche said there weren't.

The large crowd of mostly Bayshore residents roared with laughter when he said, "It shows their interest."

Vice Mayor Michael deBernardi asked the assistant attorney general if he knew of any legal points that the city council of Daly City could impose upon the Cow Palace that cannot be imposed upon it now by the San Mateo county board of supervisors.

Roche said: "To my knowledge, no."

The assistant attorney general re-stated the Cow Palace argument that the city's annexation "is an invalid attempt to include a large parcel of uninhabited land under the inhabited act." He added:

"We want to make it abundantly clear, the Cow Palace does not want to keep the citizens of Bayshore out of Daly City. We just want you to go around us.

for flat land. The state official also defended plans for the Fairmont school—considered the most forward looking in the district.

The Fairmont design provides a complex of five classrooms and a small conference room surrounding a general activity area. Asked about the economy of the Fairmont school plans, Orsburn said the architect's design is within the amount allowed by the state.

Orsburn said many other schools had tried open classrooms and carpeted floors, both innovations being considered for the Fairmont school, and had found them successful.

New designs in schools will enable teachers to adopt new teaching methods, Orsburn said. Carpeting is being used as acoustical floor covering to muffle noise and actually aids discipline, he pointed out.

Six resignations, including that of former school superintendent H. Z. Weibel, were received by the Jefferson Elementary school district board of trustees Monday. Weibel will remain principal of Daniel Webster school until June, 1964, when his resignation will take effect. He gave no reasons for resigning.

Four of the remaining five resignations were by teachers whose husbands have completed medical or dental school training and are going into internships or residency out of the area.

When Dr. Donald Calvert asked if a husband's occupation or status was considered when the teachers were hired, Superintendent Richard Foster replied:

"Yes, but we have felt that if they can render valuable service for a few years, it is advantageous for us to hire them.

Coastside Marshalls Its Artists

All of Pacifica's artistic talent and culturally-minded citizens are massing energies for the city's first big Arts Festival this weekend.

Volunteers have even been rushing to complete the long-awaited community center building at Oddstad Park in Linda Mar for a special performance by the Pacifica Players and Community Chorus Saturday evening.

The community center is a former church building purchased by the city and moved to the park site more than a year ago. Slowing its completion were a scarcity of volunteer labor, acts of vandalism, and a savage storm last September that washed out an access road.

This week, a special effort was being made to complete wiring and concrete steps and to obtain city inspection of the building in time for the festival.

Sponsored by Guild, the festival will have works of artists from nursery school age and older. Both amateur and professional art will be on exhibit in all Pacifica shopping centers.

The 54 members of the guild will display their work. Out of town artists groups have been invited to participate.

Exhibiting will be artists from the Thirty and One Artists of Burlingame and the San Bruno Artists' group.

In Eureka Square Shopping center, there will be a display of high school artists' work, sponsored by the local chapter of the Native Sons and Daughters.

In Linda Mar Shopping center will be a grade school art exhibit organized by the American Association of University women.

Tiny Tots' Work Pacific Manor Shopping center will have tiny tots from the Pacifica Cooperative Nursery school dabbling in finger paints.

Pacific Fuchsia society will present a display of unique flower arrangements at Alexander's Furniture store in Eureka Square. Pacifica Sculptors will exhibit at the Garden center in Vallemar.

Pacific Friends of the Library are sponsoring a mobile book mart. A sale of used books will benefit libraries.

Sunday evening, the churches of Pacifica will present a special musical vespers program at the Baptist church in Linda Mar.

In 1956, he received the Scoutmaster's Key, the highest recognition in the training program.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hurton, 61 Crestwood drive, Daly City, took the oath of citizenship along with 73 others.

Hurton, an Irishman from Dunbar, County Waterford, and his wife, Mercia, an Englishwoman from St. Leonard's-on-Sea, in Sussex, have lived in Daly City for the past four years. They have been in America for seven years.

Their son, Patrick Jr., was a student at Westmoor High school and recently completed a tour of duty at the Navy's service Craft unit, at the Mare Island Shipyard.

Attorney Joseph L. Alioto and Paul A. Eisler spoke to the group of new citizens. Federal District Judge George B. Harris presided over the ceremonies.

Students to Be Honored

Eight students from Westmoor and Jefferson High schools will be honored by the Daly City-Colma chamber of commerce at the club's annual student awards dinner Tuesday.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. in Westlake Joe's restaurant. Outstanding students in science and math, fine arts, liberal arts and vocational arts will receive recognition.

They have been chosen by their schools on the basis of superior scholarship in each of these fields. Each will receive a certificate from the chamber.

These students will be honored: Science and math—A. Kenneth Leahre of 172 Northgate avenue, Westmoor, and Richard Waller of 340 Peoria street, Jefferson.

Basil Gladieux, Chamber manager, said that 8000 copies of the business and professional services guide will be distributed from house to house.

An additional 4000 copies have been printed and will be distributed to anyone moving into the city.

The 38-page booklet lists 116 advertisers. According to the listings, there are four attorneys, 29 physicians, one veterinarian, five dentists, one funeral director, ten churches, 12 restaurants and 16 real estate agents in Pacifica.

Included in the directory is a complete Pacifica street map and guide, a list of emergency and city telephone numbers and a Greyhound bus schedule.

District, Developer Agree on Price

The Laguna Salada school district has reached a settlement with Coast Range Development company and has purchased five lots in Willow Brook Estates for $40,000, school administrator John Munt revealed this week.

The school district had previously begun condemnation proceedings on the land and through the district attorney's office was preparing to go to court to obtain a ruling on the price.

Munt said that a total of 40 acres of Poletti-Haskins property has been purchased by the district for $80,000 and negotiations are still underway to secure the Pietto ranch home site on Perez drive to give the school a street access.

The school district purchased an unusually large amount of land, Munt said, because it was in formed it would be subject to severance damages if it acquired only part of the piece of land available.

The school site is mostly hillside land and after grading and drainage work is done, the remainder of the land not needed for the school will be sold at auction by the state, Munt explained.

Laguna Salada school Superintendent Frederick Lucas said that this week development of the Willow Brooks school site would await further home development in the area.

The school district is in the process of acquiring school sites in three other areas — Fairmont, Portola Heights and the upper Rockaway Beach section, Lucas said. At present school officials are not sure which schools will be needed first.

Lucas said the school district anticipates an influx of children from the new Oddstad development, Marina Hills, taking space in Sanchez school, formerly occupied by children from old units in Linda Mar valley.

BIG JIM GENTILE, Baltimore's slugging first baseman is, at this writing, in a hitting slump.

Slumps are not unusual for free swingers such as Gentile, but the reasons for such slumps vary. With Big Jim, I would hazard to guess, it is because he is mad at himself for being in a slump.

You might be asking yourself, if he's mad because he isn't hitting, then, because he isn't hitting will he not stay mad and therefore continue not to hit?

This dilemma is based on the same principle as the boy who can't get a job because he has no experience, and can't gain experience because he won't be given a job.

Knowing that Gentile is mad at himself, the answer to the riddle seems very logical — channel his temper. Get him mad at someone else. Like pitchers. Or Bob Quattrin.

IF YOU WANT to know who Bob Quattrin is, you'll have to keep reading. That's the only way I know of to get anyone to finish this column — and no peeking at the bottom!

You must understand that channeling Jim's temper is no easy task. Because of his temper Gentile has never had a really easy time in baseball, not even when he was pitching San Francisco's Sacred Heart to prep championships, or entering pro ranks with 50,000 Dodger dollars in his kick.

For years Gentile labored and fretted under the shadow of the great Gil Hodges, coming to bat as a Dodger only 16 times in two partial seasons with the big club, despite a series of fine higher minor league records.

When the Dodgers finally sold Jim conditionally to Baltimore in the fall of '49, he took advantage of the opportunity to bat 400 times a season and began burning up the American league, reaching his peak in '61, when his 46 homers and 141 R.B.I.'s would have been good enough to lead the league if it hadn't been for a couple of guys, Roger Maris (his '61' homer year) and Mickey Mantle having two of the greatest years of their lives. And this despite the fact that Baltimore's Memorial stadium is one of the toughest in baseball on power hitters.

IT SEEMED that all the resultant stories in sports magazines concluded that this was all because Jim had finally curbed his temper.

True, Gentile may have mellowed a little with age, but then most people do. There was no dramatic change in his terrible temper. He hit big because he's always been able to hit.

When this writer knew him through American Legion, prep and semi-pro days, Gentile, off the field, was a good-natured, likable guy — a little cocky, perhaps, but the kind of cockiness which one had to respect.

In those days Jim was a combination pitcher-first baseman. He was, in fact, signed by the Dodgers and played his first year of professional ball as a pitcher. But Jim always loved hitting with a passion, and after an unhappy and unproductive pitching year at Santa Barbara in '52, the brass decided to let him hit.

AS A PREP ATHLETE, however, Jim could really hum that seed, and was almost impossible to beat without use of psychological warfare!

Our method was the needle. Jim was known to have rabbit ears, and this writer played with a group of guys who, I fear, would sometimes rather ride Gentile than play baseball. The few times we did beat him was because he'd eventually become more concerned over what was being said to him than where he was throwing the ball.

It was in a game between the Mission Kiwanis (Jim's team) and the Portola Marchants (our team) in January of '52 at Big Rec that Gentile had finally taken all he could.

It was the first game of a playoff series in a championship round of the Golden Gate Park Saturday league. Gentile was pitching, and our bench jockeys were in such rare form that we eventually beat the big boy, 7-0, with only four hits.

EVERYONE, it seemed, contributed to the vocal holocaust except Bob Quattrin, a rugged little Missionite who was ordinarily a third baseman but who, as a fill-in first baseman that day was, I guess, too preoccupied with playing gazelle around the initial sack to bother with Gentile.

But for some reason Jim got the idea that Quattrin was the brains behind the whole vast plot, so Jim, 6-1, 200 pounds (today he's 6-4, 225), menacingly told Quattrin, 5-8, 160, to keep his mouth shut or he would shut it for him after the game, to which Quattrin answered, with an ambiguous shrug, "Okay," or words to that effect.

When the game was over and the incident all but forgotten, we suddenly looked up from our gear-gathering to see Gentile and Quattrin, apparently without a word spoken, charging each other across the field. They met on the run at home plate and Quattrin threw Gentile for a strike with a shot on the right eye. Quattrin umpired on the surprised Gentile. Jim, using his weight of pounds, rolled Quattrin over, and from that point on the tussle degenerated in to a typical ballplayer's fight, with a lot of sound and fury signifying only bruised feelings.

After being pried apart they shook hands, and in the days that followed Gentile was noted to have taken on an abundance of humility — as well as well pitched, nearly temperless games, although, ironically, neither team won the championship, as, if I remember correctly, Pamona Tile, aided by Jim Landis (current Chicago White Sox center fielder), sneaked in.

BUT BIG JIM did go on to pitch Sacred Heart to their third straight prep title, that year, against Mission High in the playoff finals — with Quattrin playing third for Mission and no incidents.

The boys needed Gentile something awful in that series, but he was too busy minding his own business and striking out everybody.

In other words, Gentile had finally gotten mad at somebody besides himself, had had his built-up tension released with a good punch on the right eye, and had been tossed out of his "slump."

Therein lies our solution to Jim's current and future slumps.

It might be worth it to the Orioles to occasionally fly Quattrin (now a San Francisco fireman) to Baltimore to jolt Jim Gentile out of his self mad-ons — but on the chin. He needs those eyes to hit, now.

Warriors Win 2, Take League Lead

By MILT STAUB

South San Francisco won a pair of baseball games in convincing fashion last week and by this feat edged into undisputed possession of first place in the Northern Peninsula League.

The Westmoor Rams suffered a 6 to 5 loss to El Camino Wednesday but, despite seven errors, rebounded to pin a 6 to 4 defeat on Terra Nova Friday.

Other highlights during the week's play found Jefferson topping Oceana, 6 to 5, and thereby emerging from the basement on their first victory of the season.

Surprising El Camino held good pace with the leaders by winning again Friday and Terra Nova and Oceana each lost two games.

Bob Brian's Warriors combined effective pin-point pitching with robust hitting to run their victory skinn to four.

Wednesday, Chuck Oliveira, who appears easy to score upon but—as the record indicates—obviously isn't, spaced six hits and Hugh McNevin and Dave Simi crashed home runs to collaborate in downing Terra Nova, 4 to 1.

Friday, Rich Wickersham and Gary Iacini took their turn at pounding out homers and Jeff Jones set out to stifle the Jefferson bats. The Warriors are versatile.

Jones toiled effortlessly and was in complete command, winning 7 to 1.

Each Jeff batter was set down on strikes at least once, and several lunkless athletes more than once, as Jones whiffed 13, the season's high. In four games, Jones and colleague Oliveira have allowed a miserly three runs.

Whiffs 13 Batters

El Camino's whopping upset win over Westmoor was climaxed by a wild seventh inning. The Colts had scored to a one-run lead on the strength of a merry five-run fifth inning that saw Mike Laurel and Hal Westmoor land each drive in two runs.

In the top of the seventh Bruce Hix, who was three for four with three RBIs, tied the score with a savage smash to left field.

But Westmoorland, who had been pressed into pitching service in this inning and was the hurler of record now, opened the bottom of the seventh with a two-baser, moved to third on an infield out and raced across the plate on an error. He was promptly pounded with congratulations by hilarious teammates.

Colt Serious

Friday, El Camino pointedly indicated that its bid for the title should be considered seriously. The Colts, hopping off to an easy 8 to 0 lead against Oceana, coasted from that point to an 11 to 4 victory.

The Sharks outthrew their foes for the fourth consecutive time, but again indulged in a spate of errors that cancelled all opportunity they may have had of winning.

A trio of Sharks, Doug Rhodes, Jim Cook and Dave Westphal, laced a pair of hits with Westphal getting a triple.

Oceana's one-run loss to Jefferson Wednesday was another heart-breaker for the Sharks, who bobbled four times.

The misuses, however, were unable to dim the luster of Jeff hero Jerry Sullivan, who tagged two doubles and a single, scored a run, drove in a pair and assumed pitching duties in the last inning with a Shark camped on each sack and no outs.

Following an unsuccessful squeeze attempt, Sullivan fanned the next two batters.

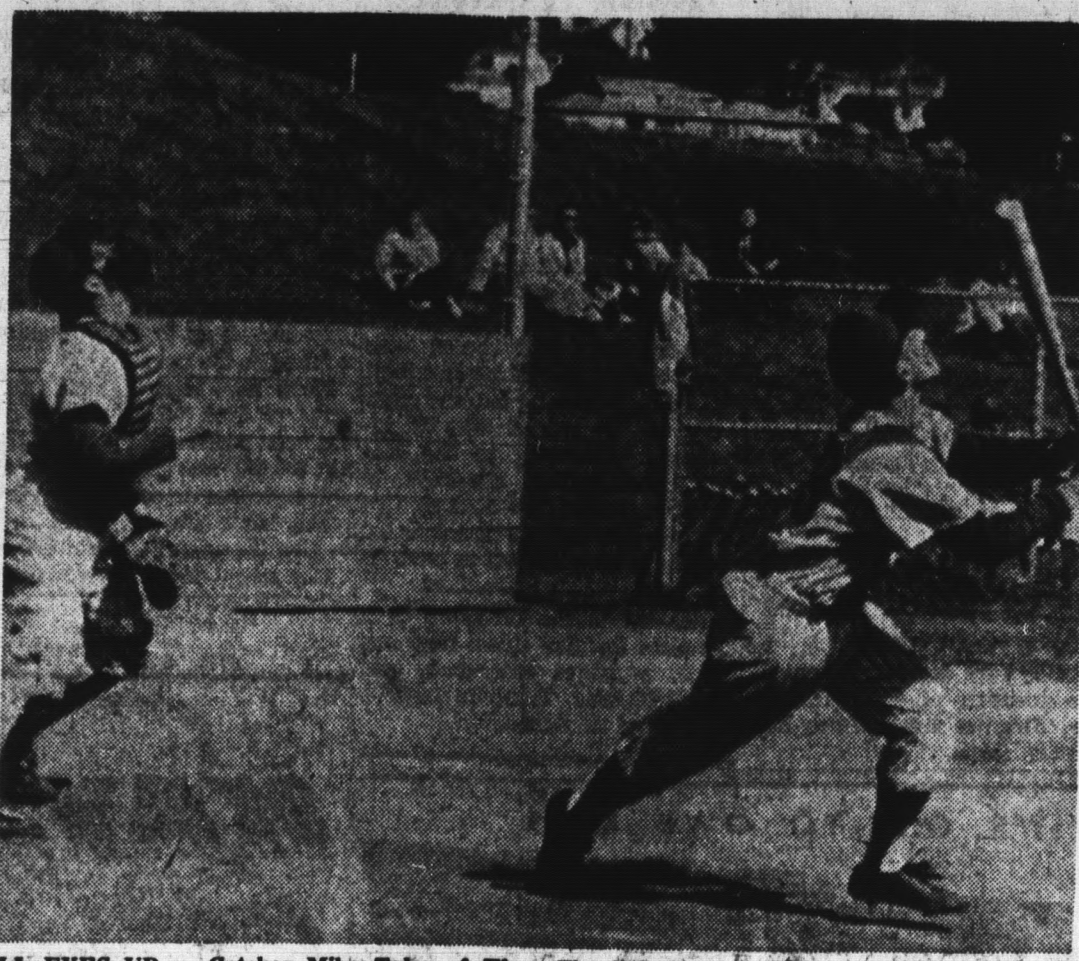

The week of truth for Terra Nova evolved into a double disaster when Westmoor also sandbagged the Tigers. The Rams were ragged, committing seven errors. All runs were unearned, except Westmoor's first score, as eleven green and white players paraded to the plate in a tumultuous second inning.

Hibbard Stars

Curt Hibbard, picking up the pieces after this catastrophic frame, tossed four innings of no-hit ball for the Tigers.

Wednesday, Hibbard had turned in a masterful two-hit five-inning stint against South City. A fair week's work all in all.

Bruce Hix's smoking bat was partially quenched, the Ram slammer being limited to a single and one RBI. This momentary setback left Hix with but 9 for 12 for the season and a fearsome .750 average.

ALL EYES UP — Catcher Mike Tyler of El Camino and Don Heim of Oceana, at bat, both have their eyes on the ball, sent skyward by Heim in second inning action Friday afternoon.

Bulldogs Nipped in 9th Frame

San Jose City college rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat Golden Gate conference baseball leader, College of San Mateo 9-8, in a hitting marathon at San Jose Friday.

While the Bulldogs were hammering three San Jose pitchers for 14 hits—including a bases empty homer by John DeVos and two triples by John DeVos—San Jose tagged Pete Cocconi for 12 hits, one of them a two-run homer by John Besa.

Besa's homer which bounced over the head of left fielder Rich Reitz, came in the fourth inning to give San Jose a 6-5 lead. Morris' circuit clout came in the eighth to give the Bulldogs an 8-6 lead which they blew in the last two innings.

San Jose trailed by one run going into the ninth when Jim Palma bunted a single with one out. He stole second base and tallied on Dave Gigliotti's double. Rich Boitano singled Gigliotti home with the winning run.

The loss gave San Mateo an 8-4 record in conference play.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Burton

ONE OF the many pleasant aspects of my work is the fun of discovering new recipes and meeting so many nice and interesting people in the process.

Last week, for example, I attended a luncheon at the Lutheran church of the Good Shepherd in San Francisco. The theme of the luncheon was Japan; the decorations and food conjoined to bring a bit of Japan to the Sunset. The menu consisted of teriyaki steak, rice, various condiments and a delicious mold that had fresh spinach in it. Need I tell you that I made it my business to get the recipes for both the steak and mold?

TERIYAKI STEAK

2 Tbsp. sliced ginger root
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup water
1 Tbsp. sugar
garlic or onion, about 1/2 teas. powdered garlic or a small onion cut thin
1 1/2 lbs sirloin or round steak
Combine the ginger root, soy sauce, water, sugar and garlic or onion, and place the steak, which has been cut into cubes, in this sauce and marinate overnight. Remove the steak from the sauce, (save the sauce to spoon over the meat as it broils) and thread on skewers.

You may add whole mushrooms, squares of green pepper, pineapple chunks, small pre-cooked onions or any such foods — alternately on the skewers with the cubes of meat. Broil seven to ten minutes, turning once.

THIS MOLDED salad is a specialty of Mrs. Jeanette Schultz, the wife of the pastor of Good Shepherd. I'd tasted it before but never managed to get the recipe. This time I was in the right place at exactly the right time and here it is for us to enjoy.

SPINACH MOLD

1 package lemon jello
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 Tablespoon vinegar
1/2 cup mayonnaise
salt and pepper
1 cup chopped raw spinach
1/2 pint small curd cottage cheese
1 1/2 Tablespoon minced onion.
Mix jello and hot water until jello is dissolved, then add cold water, vinegar, mayonnaise and salt and pepper. Mix well and pour into tray and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator. Leave about 20 minutes or until about 1/4-inch around the edge is frozen. Pour into large bowl and beat until fluffy. Fold in the chopped spinach, cottage cheese and minced onion. Place in mold or square pan and chill until set. Serves 6.

The finer the spinach is cut the prettier the salad will be and the way to do the best job, according to the ladies who made this salad, is to use scissors to cut the fresh spinach.

THE SPEAKER at the luncheon was Mrs. David Otsuki, of San Jose, Calif., who was a missionary in Japan and had many interesting things to tell of her experiences there. North, south, east or west, the ladies like to learn new cooking methods and the ladies of Japan were much interested in our recipes.

Mrs. Otsuki mentioned that one dish was particularly intriguing to them — Porcupine Meatballs. That rang a bell for me and I hurried home and searched through my files for that recipe, but to no avail. Gone, gone, gone. Fortunately, Mrs. Cecil Collin of 1674 Thirty-second avenue, San Francisco, had this very recipe and has made it frequently and recommends it heartily.

PORCUPINE MEATBALLS

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 lb. ground lean pork
1 small onion, minced
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1/2 cup breadcrumbs
1 egg
salt and pepper
1 can tomato soup
Mix all the ingredients together and shape into balls, golf ball size, and place in oiled casserole dish. Mix tomato soup with a half can of water and pour over meatballs. Cover and bake in 375 degree oven for 1 hour. If you want to bake something else at the same time (and why not?), this dish adapts itself to almost any temperature. When the dish is done to it's delish best, the rice is sticking out of the balls, making a very pretty picture.

DON'T ADD CURRY

It's not a good idea to add curry powder to eggs that are to be scrambled because the combination usually turns out to have an unappetizing color. If you must have curry flavor with your eggs, add a little of the powder to the filling for stuffed eggs.

Women Marines Plan Reunion In San Diego

A reunion of former women reservists of the United States Marine Corps is being held in San Diego, at the U. S. Grant hotel, July 25-28. An effort is being made to locate as many of these women as possible.

The reunion is being sponsored by the "Scuttlebutt Gang," a group of former WR's stationed on the West Coast during World War II, but all women who have served or are serving in the marine corps are welcome.

World War II saw the re-birth of women reservists in the marine corps (there were 305 who served during World War I) and more than 23,000 women were on duty. From 1946 until 1948 100 women reservists remained on active duty, and in 1948 congress authorized the enlistment of women as an integral and permanent part of the marine corps.

THE PACIFICA ART GUILD will welcome Archibald Fairbairn, the West Coast's most renowned watercolorist at the group's regular monthly meeting Monday according to program chairman, Sherri Thomas.

Fairbairn will lecture on "Knowledge and Observation, the Keys to Good Painting," when the members of the guild assemble at 8 p.m. in the Community room of the Central Market in the Linda Mar section of Westlake.

Fairbairn, who began his art instruction at the tender age of five years, is the son of renowned European watercolorist Evelyn Fairbairn. Mrs. Fairbairn, a member of the Royal Academy Mission in South Africa, began her sons art lessons while the family was living in South Africa and since then he has traveled and painted on four continents. Until recently he was dean of faculty at the Art league in San Francisco, a post he held for nine years.

Mrs. Thomas extended an invitation to the public to attend the lecture and remain for refreshments and a social hour.

The guild meeting on Monday will climax a most ambitious art festival to be staged by the guild this Saturday and Sunday.

Among the outstanding events will be the numerous displays of oils and watercolors located throughout the Pacifica area, the mysterious "surprise program" to be presented by the Pacifica Players in association with the Pacifica Chorus, and the wonderful Fine Arts Film, "The Life of a Butterfly," which was made in Pacifica at the Westview Elementary school and edited by John Stewart. An other special treat, assured to make this a festival you won't want to miss, will be the music performed by a large assemblage of musicians and vocal groups from the Pacifica churches with solos by Per Hillestrom and Cecil Cooper.

TWENTY YEARS of service in the FBI were rewarded with a gold key and a complimentary letter recently in a ceremony honoring Westlake's Lewis H. Johnson.

Presentation of the department's formal expressions of appreciation were made by special agent in charge, Curtis Lynum, late last month and a special, personal token was presented to Johnson by his coworkers during a coffee klatch later in the day.

Johnson's coworkers thoughtfully took into consideration the mint green and white decor of the Johnson's newly redecorated home in the selection of the gift, a beautiful bit of bric a brac.

Incidentally, it is the extensive redecorating chores that have been responsible for the almost total disappearance of Ann Johnson from the social scene. While the interior decorators labored over the creation of contemporary-Italian living room, Mrs. Johnson has been busy elsewhere in the home with her paint brush giving a spring time freshness to almost the entire house.

BUFFLES AND RUFFLES, Pacifica's favorite clowns, will add their own zesty spice to the Ortega P-TA spaghetti dinner to be held on Saturday evening, May 18. Mrs. Carol Pozo will chairmen the dinner and the auction to follow.

Mrs. Day, who with daughter Shirley recently returned from a holiday in Hawaii, urged everyone interested in enrolling toddlers in the school's summer session to call her immediately for enrollment is limited. Interested parents should call ELmwood 9-1129 between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

'Chalk Circle' At S.F. State Friday

Bertolt Brecht's "Caucasian Chalk Circle" will be the final production of the season at San Francisco State college.

Opening Friday the drama will have a rare staging, directed by Jack Cook, and is set in provincial Russia.

The play has been called Bertolt Brecht's greatest work. It is an outstanding example of what has been called "modern epic theatre." Brecht based his drama on the Klabund adaptation of the old Chinese play "The Circle of Chalk." The play is concerned that things should be given to those who make the best use of them—a dangerous doctrine in any communist country, where waste and inefficiency are in constant evidence.

Valleymar Principal Is Honored

Scharleen H. Hopkins, principal of Valleymar Elementary school in Pacifica, was given P-TA's highest award, honorary life membership, at the close of her school's open house program.

Many of those in a jam-packed auditorium rose from their seats, applauding enthusiastically, as she was pinned with a tiny oak leaf.

In her name, a sum of money will be added to the scholarship and loan fund of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers to assist students in obtaining a higher education.

"She is a woman who has a genuine concern for children," said Mrs. Dale Buehlerback, past P-TA president, in presenting the award.

"She knows each of her students by name. She shares their joys and their troubles, great or small. She wears a yellow sticker on stormy days to see that each youngster is transported home. She has done many compassionate deeds for those whose problems fall heavy on little shoulders."

Mrs. Hopkins has served the Laguna Salada District as assistant principal, as principal of Sanchez school and then of Valleymar where she has been for the past four years.

In 1961, she was one of only two educators selected west of the leadership of the National Department of Elementary School Principals at a convention in Atlantic City.

Church Holds Work Day at Baptist Camp

The work day scheduled by the Westlake Community Baptist church at the LaHonda Redwood Glen Camp was a "real success," according to Bill White, president of the Men's Fellowship.

Mrs. Glenn Gibson, with the help of Betty Cooper and Mrs. Ed Newkirk, planned food for twenty-five and were confronted with a crew of sixty-five. However, by raiding the camp supplies and with the aid of a good can-opener, all the hungry workers were well fed, he said.

Some of the men who gave of their time and talents were Pastor Lynn Hodges and his son, Mr. Ed Goldkuhl, Mr. J. P. McPherson and two sons and Glenn Gibson.

They helped crews erect tent platforms for the "Cliff-Dwellers," put in a storage tank and braced water lines, drained the 110,000 gallon swimming pool of accumulated rain waters and bulldozed and cleared of debris a large entrance parking area.

Artistic as well as useful pieces made in metal shop are on display in the industrial arts case at Westmoor High school.

Included are copper bowls which could be used for decorative purposes, hammers, an example of metal grinding and smoothing.

An interesting cut-away view of a carburetor is on display for the auto shop portion. This carburetor was painstakingly done man-of-the-month, Rick Fields. The difficulty of the piece was working with the actual parts and spreading them out to enable the observer to view the internal construction of the carburetor.

On display by the drafting classes are some examples of mechanical drawing exercises and include an interesting color scale drawing of an ultra-modern cliff house.

Also being shown are the various components for a radio, used by students in the Electric and Radio Shops.

The display cabinet is filled with numerous pieces of work done completely by students in the Industrial Arts program.

Other students who have projects on display are Thomas Colangelo, Jeff Greene, John Hutcheson, Tom Passinisi, Bryce Stockslager, John Stone and Don West.

IN PRODUCE SALES

Market's Target Is $100-Million

The new Golden Gate produce market in South San Francisco hopes to become a $100-million operation by December, the end of its first year in operation, an owner of the market told the Daly City Rotary club last week.

James C. Hall of Sunset Produce company, one of the 14 firms that now occupy the market, declared the market now handles 75 per cent of the produce business that existed in San Francisco two years ago.

The South San Francisco facility was organized after a group of merchants found rental arrangements unacceptable for a new produce market in San Francisco.

The merchants were subsequently ordered to vacate their San Francisco facilities, by the San Francisco Redevelopment agency.

A bitter court followed, ending in a ruling against the merchants. Hall said the new produce facility is now a $72 to $75-million operation.

The market has 500 employees and the total investment is $4½-million, he said.

Railroad car shipments handled by the market have jumped from 54 in the first month of business last December to 135 in March, he noted.

Recalling the events that ultimately led to the merchants' move to South San Francisco, Hall said:

"I don't think that a single produce merchant at that time (1955) thought that he would ever wind up in San Mateo county."

Hall said when the decision was finally made to organize a new market, the corporation formed to run the operation "probably was the quickest-formed corporation in the history of California. It was all done in a weekend."

The merchant recalled that through the efforts of a "progressive young banker with progressive ideas," the financing of the new produce operation was arranged without including the usual cancellation penalty assessed when a loan is paid off before it becomes due.

Because of this provision, he added, the market decided to deal with the bank instead of an insurance company for the funds it needed.

Construction of the market's buildings, Hall went on, was accomplished in only 120 working days. And he added:

"That's some kind of record."

B of A Holds Founder's Day

Staff members at the local Bank of America branch held Founder's Day ceremonies on Monday in memory of the late A. P. Giannini.

On the same date, in locations all over the world, employees at the bank's overseas offices held similar services, honoring the founder of the bank who was born in San Jose 93 years ago.

Speaking by recording, president S. Clark Beise called Giannini a pioneer of modern banking, and declared that Giannini's principles are as worthy of striving for today as they were when the bank was founded.

The Founder's Day observance marking Giannini's birthday has been held annually since his death in 1949.

Realtors to Hear Bank Executive

David L. Grove, vice-president of the Federal Reserve bank, San Francisco, will be principal speaker at the annual Realtor Week luncheon to be held at the Thunderbird hotel, Millbrae, May 16, it was announced last week by the combined boards of realtors of San Mateo county.

Grove, former head of the economics department of the Bank of America for 10 years, will speak on "Monetary Policy, Tax Reduction and Economic Growth."

More than 500 realtors from the five real estate boards in San Mateo county will be present for the event, which will also see gifts presented to the "home buyer of the week" selected by each board of realtors and presentation of Sue Englebert of Belmont, Miss Realtor of San Mateo county, who is competing in the San Mateo Miss America contest.

Grove joined the staff of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve system in 1944 in Washington, D. C., as an economist in the Latin-American section, becoming chief of that section in 1946.

In this post he participated in various monetary and banking missions to Latin American countries and to the Philippines. He also taught a money and banking course at American university in Washington, D. C.

In 1952 Grove accepted a position with the Bank of America at its head office in San Francisco where he had charge of the economics department; in 1959 he was named a vice-president and assumed charge of the International and Bond Investment departments of the bank.

In February of this year he returned to the Federal Reserve bank as vice-president in charge of economic research and acts as economic advisor.

Daly City's Fire Fighters-- Yesterday and Today

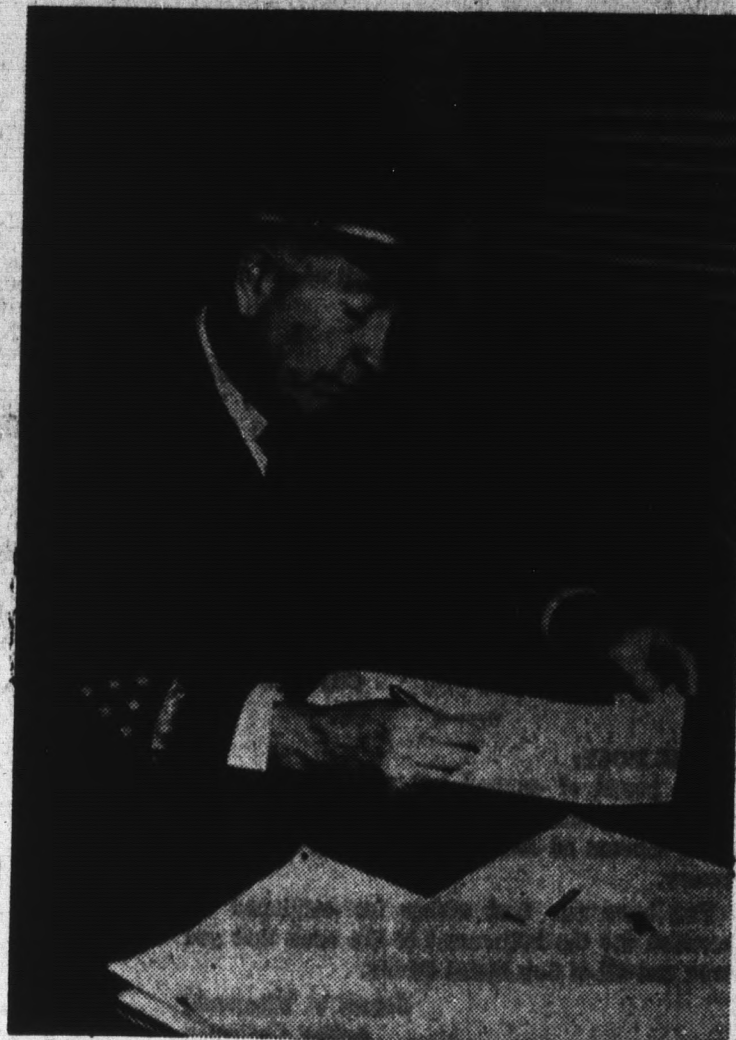

Responding to the Call

Still in Charge

VOLUNTEERS—The Vista Grande Volunteer Fire Department served and acted as both a business and social organization for pioneer Daly City residents. They served a critical need in the community of highly combustible shacks and tents which were lighted by candles. Fire could spread fast and an unorganized group of men and women could not effectively cope with the danger. The volunteer unit became the second public group to be formed in Daly City on August 2, 1907. (Fire Department Photo)

CHIEF—Still at his desk since taking over the department in 1946 is J. E. (Elmer) Kennedy. He first came to the department as a volunteer in 1923. (Post-Times Photo)

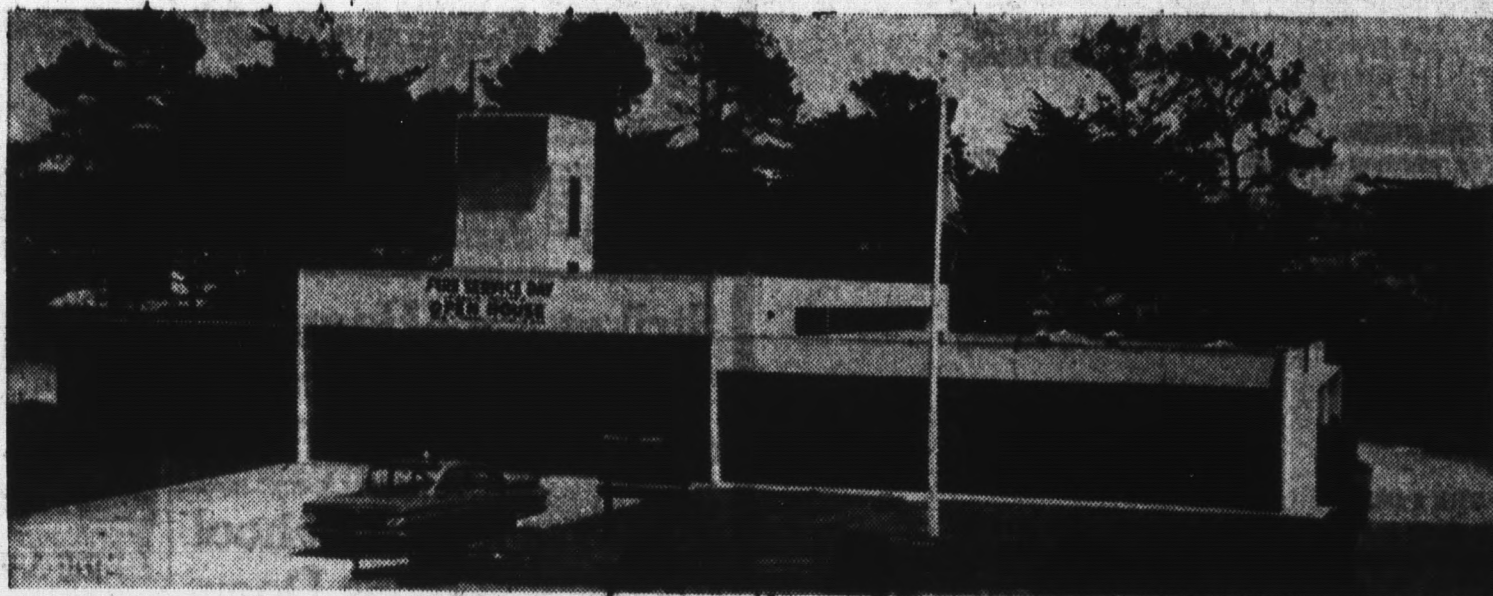

Full-time Firefighters

FIRST PAID employees of the department went to work on January 15, 1931. All of them, except Henry Weisner, top right, are still with the fire department. Standing from left

Department Headquarters

CENTRAL FIRE STATION

1907 to 1963

Fire-fighting methods and equipment have changed drastically since Daly City became incorporated in 1911.

Daly City was born out of disaster and fire and has grown to become the second largest city in San Mateo county with what observers consider one of the most efficient fire departments in the Bay Area.

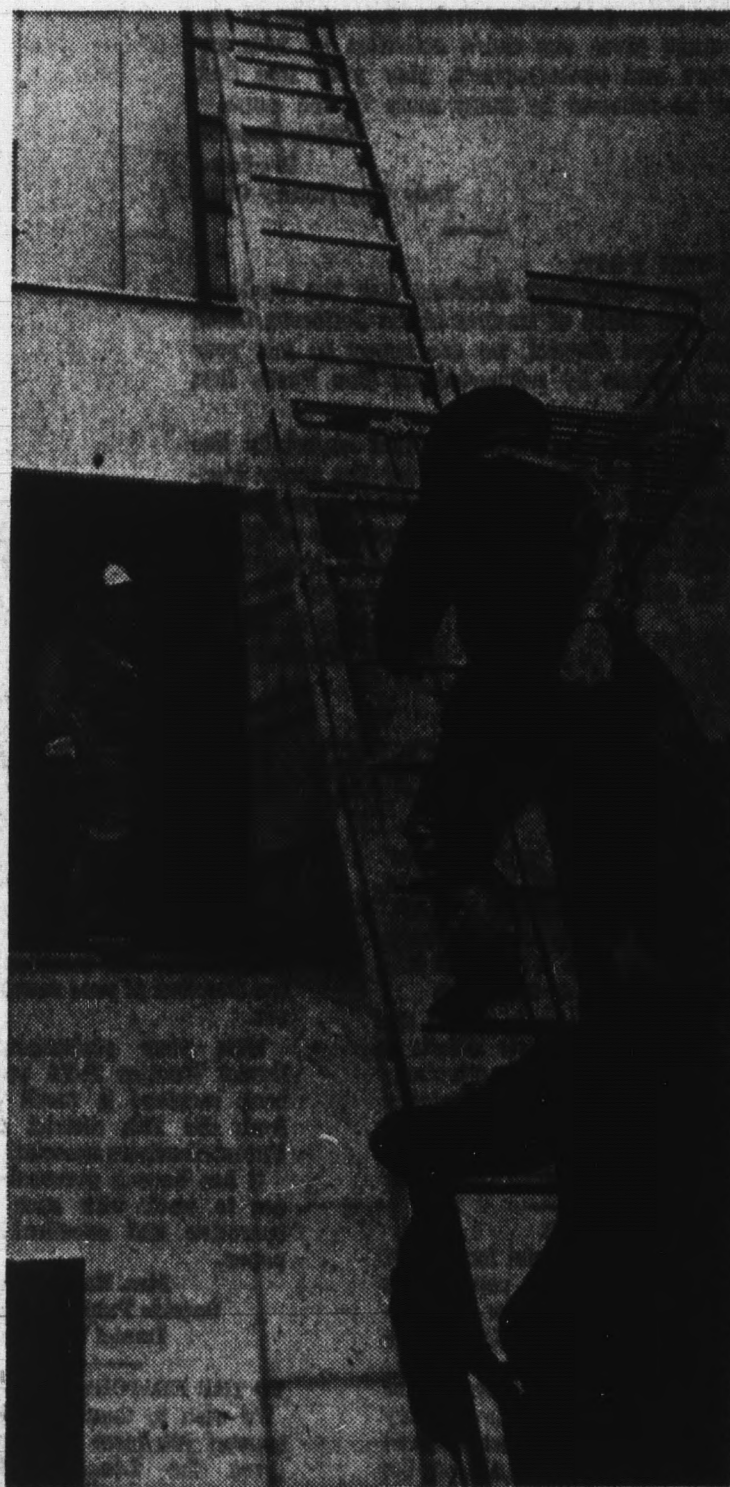

The shacks and tents that covered the slopes of John Daly's dairy farm, right after the San Francisco 1906 earthquake, grew to permanence and fire became a dreaded enemy.

The fire department has grown from an unorganized bucket brigade in 1907 to three companies of trained firemen, equipped with the latest firefighting equipment.

Competitive written and physical examinations were held by the city Saturday preparatory to expanding the department.

The city paused to note its fire-fighting service Saturday in a program of demonstrations and displays at the three fire stations and at the Westlake and St. Francis Square Shopping centers.

Ready for Action

All Decked Out for a Parade

DALY CITY PARADE—The volunteer fire department gets decked out in all their finery for a parade in 1912. The parade on Santa Barbara avenue was to promote the city's first capital improvement program, a $100,000 bond issue that financed construction of a municipal water system. (Fire Department Photo)

Our Friends Say 'Happy Birthday'

It is a great pleasure for us to congratulate you upon the completion of your first year of publication.

We need not dwell on the obvious services which your paper—and in fact every newspaper—provides; but instead let us take this occasion to publicly commend your personnel for their fine efforts and for the splendid co-operation we have consistently enjoyed with all those in your organization.

Joseph J. Verducci, Mayor and Council of Daly City

TO THE POST:

I certainly am appreciative of the coverage The Post has been giving our area. I hope you will continue the outstanding coverage you have been affording Pacifica.

The co-operation of your representative, Lois McNally, on all matters requiring special treatment has been excellent.

My congratulations and best wishes for the future.

Harold Feyge, Mayor
City of Pacifica

The board of supervisors, joined by all San Mateo county officials, send best wishes for continued success on the occasion of your first anniversary.

You have our best wishes for continued co-operation for the betterment of the area that you serve and all of San Mateo county.

Many more years of continued success.

Carl A. Britschgi

Edward Dennis

City of Daly City

TO THE POST:

On behalf of the Rotary club of Daly City, may I congratulate you and your staff on the fine work which has brought The Post from the incubation point to its first anniversary so successfully.

It is a privilege to extend congratulations and best wishes to The Post on the occasion of its first year in business.

I have read with interest the articles which have appeared in The Post. I wish to commend you for the excellent community coverage and for the accuracy of reporting Laguna Salada school news.

The objectiveness with which you present issues and the straightforward handling of news stories provides an important service to citizens. It has been a real pleasure working with your staff members, Lois McNally, Don Miller and Ron Bates.

You have accomplished a great deal this past year. Please accept my best wishes for still greater accomplishments during the coming year.

Frederick E. Lucas

On behalf of myself and the Daly City police department I wish to congratulate you on a job "well done," and to wish you my best on your anniversary.

With best wishes on your anniversary.

R. A. Petroschi
Chief of Police
Daly City

TO THE POST:

Congratulations from the Daly City fire department to The Post on your first anniversary are in order at this time.

Without doubt, the services of the Daly City fire department would be without meaning and usefulness unless the people of Daly City are aware of the many services which we are prepared to offer.

Your co-operation with our department in publicizing our services by story and picture has been outstanding during the past year, and we hope it will broaden and continue during the coming year.

J. E. Kennedy, Chief
Daly City Fire Department

TO THE POST:

This letter is sent on behalf of the Daly City Ministerial association to convey our congratulations and well-wishes to Don Miller, Ron Bates, and others of the staff of The Post on this occasion of its first anniversary as a newspaper.

Your coverage and appraisal of the news in North San Mateo county, along with Daly City, has brought an increased interest in north county activities, people, business, institutions and our churches. Along with this interest, there has come a growing participation by citizens in community and church events.

Our best regards go with you in the years ahead.

Herbert C. Tweedle

President
Daly City Ministerial Association

TO THE POST:

I would certainly be remiss if I did not offer The Post congratulations on behalf of the Daly City-Colma chamber of commerce.

The service that you have created in one short year is phenomenal. We of the chamber, consider the addition of your paper to our community, one of the outstanding events of last year.

Best of wishes for the future.

I especially appreciate the fine co-operation that each of you have shown in publicizing events of recreational nature. I want to thank everyone for the confidence they have in my position. All can rest assured that as long as I sit on the school board, my first thought will be for the best education for our children, and getting the most for our tax dollar.

At this time I want to compliment your paper for fact-reporting on our board meetings and letting the people know the results in school business transactions.

Pacific Parade

By DON MILLER

IF YOU listen closely these days on a still night and the wind is, by chance from the Southeast, you may by some meteorological freak hear the distant roar of falling water.

A lot of water, moreover, falling great distances—tumbling through rock-lined gorges, rushing past lush green meadows, whirling beneath towering walls of granite and hurrying, ultimately, to the sea.

This water is falling some 200 miles away in Yosemite, that spectacular work of nature now visited by more than a million people every year.

Now, water has been roaring over Yosemite's awesome cliffs for a million years or so but chances are the show has never been more inspiring than right now.

A series of late winter snows has left the high Sierras with a heavy mantle of white and the runoff is only beginning to hit its stride.

This past weekend, we joined that growing band of Yosemite buffs who outflank the summer mobs by visiting the park before Memorial Day. We came away more thoroughly convinced than ever that June 30 should become some sort of National Park holiday.

For that was the day in 1864 that Abraham Lincoln signed an act of congress granting to the state of California: "The cleft or gorge in the granite peak of the Sierra Nevada mountains . . . known as Yo-Semite valley . . . for public use, resort and recreation."

This original grant—subsequently became the core of what is today's Yosemite—established in its present area in 1890.

BUT LET'S get back to this water we've been talking about. In Yosemite, it tumbles down six major waterfalls and a melange of smaller ones.

With those late winter snows now in full flight, the highest of the falls, Upper and Lower Yosemite, have grown exceedingly fat and prosperous.

These two waterfalls combined, incidentally, drop nearly half a mile. In this combined fall, they are the second highest in the world.

Bill Shands, San Mateo Times telegraph editor, and a Yosemite buff of the most ardent kind, clambered up the three and a half mile trail to the top of Yosemite Falls with his young son, Roger, this past weekend. He reports the snow was still so deep they had difficulty following the trail.

All this, of course, augurs well for the folks who never get out of Yosemite Valley but prefer, instead to view the falls in the standard rubber-necking stance.

For with that much snow up there, the falls should be roaring for weeks to come.

WE DID a bit of climbing ourselves—to the top of Vernal Falls, which plummets 317 feet. This old favorite looked considerably more like Niagara than a Yosemite waterfall and it, too, should be hale and hearty well into June.

The trail to the top of Vernal, by the way, is quite a deceptive stroll. A sign at the beginning of the trail gives you only a hint of what's to come with warnings about footwear and keeping track of the members of your party.

At first, the trail rises steeply along the banks of the Merced river. It's comfortably wide at this point. Because of its grade, however, you begin to think all of its one and a half miles are going to be like climbing some of those fierce hills in San Francisco.

Just about when you've firmed up this suspicion, the trail levels off somewhat and the jaunt becomes downright easy. The trail winds easily over a bridge spanning the river and you read a sign that says your destination—the top of Vernal—is but a half mile more.

Just dandy, you think, believing now that the rest of the way should be no more taxing than climbing up the veranda stairs.

That's when you get fooled again. For the trail at this point takes on a decidedly rugged posture that doesn't get straightened out until you're at the top.

Along the way, the trail becomes less of a trail and more of a suggested path. The path then turns to stone stairs, the stairs to slippery stones, the slippery stones to water-covered stones and finally when you begin to think the whole business will become a matter of hand-over-hand progress, you suddenly arrive.

The last couple hundred feet are negotiated, when old Vernal is in top form, in a driving mist, beautifully etched with rainbows when the sun is shining.

SO ROBUST was Vernal Sunday that this climb took on the appearance of the Cave of the Winds walk at the base of Niagara Falls.

Comparing the two strolls this weekend, we concluded that the Niagara walk's reputation as the wettest tourist jaunt in the world has a formidable challenge here in California—at least when the big snows are melting.

If you decide Vernal's shower can't be all that bad and that what's up top must be seen, you're not going to be disappointed. Of all the vistas in Yosemite—and their numbers are legion—none, we believe, gives the visitor a more leveling and soul-touching experience than the view from Vernal's roof.

As you stand at a railing close by the top of the falls and lookout at the dazzling panorama of snow-topped granite, pine trees, sheer canyon walls and the torrent of water thundering below you, you begin to feel what conservationist John Muir felt when he described Yosemite in these poetic words:

"The most songful streams in the world . . . the noblest forests, the loftiest granite domes, the deepest ice-sculptured canyons . . ."

But Yosemite is more than the valley and the waterfalls and the great slabs of granite that reach into the sky.

It also is what the rangers call "the high country," that part of the park you can't reach during winter because of the snow.

In about another 10 days, however, you'll be able to get up there via what is fast becoming known as one of the most scenic highways in the world—the Tioga Pass road.

Neighbors Lend Hand In Pacifica

The big heart of America opened wide last week in Pacifica to four young children who arrived only recently from England.

Wednesday at noon, 11-year-old Linda Stewart arrived at her home at 212 Milagra drive for lunch.

She found her mother, Mrs. Mary Stewart, 30, asleep in the bedroom. But her mother would not awaken when Linda attempted to arouse her. Neither would she awaken for any of the other three Stewart children—Patricia, 10; Caroline, 6; nor James, 5.

Linda couldn't call her daddy, because he is stationed as a staff sergeant with the Strategic Air Command at Whittcomb Air Force Base near London, and has been unable to get a transfer home.

Neither could she call any of the neighbors because neither she nor her mother had become acquainted with them since arriving in Pacifica five months ago from Europe.

So Linda ran to fire department headquarters about a block away.

But the firemen were unable to revive Mrs. Stewart, either. A doctor from the nearby Milagra medical center was called, and he asked that an ambulance be dispatched immediately to take Mrs. Stewart to Peninsula hospital as she was suffering from a serious ulcer condition.

The four little children faced going to the county receiving home in San Mateo. But police hadn't reckoned with the Stewarts' neighbors.

When they heard of the little quartet's plight, Mrs. June Hurtado of 216 Milagra drive, who has three children of her own, offered to take over as "mother" on the "swing shift" at the Stewart home from 2 to 10 p.m. each day.

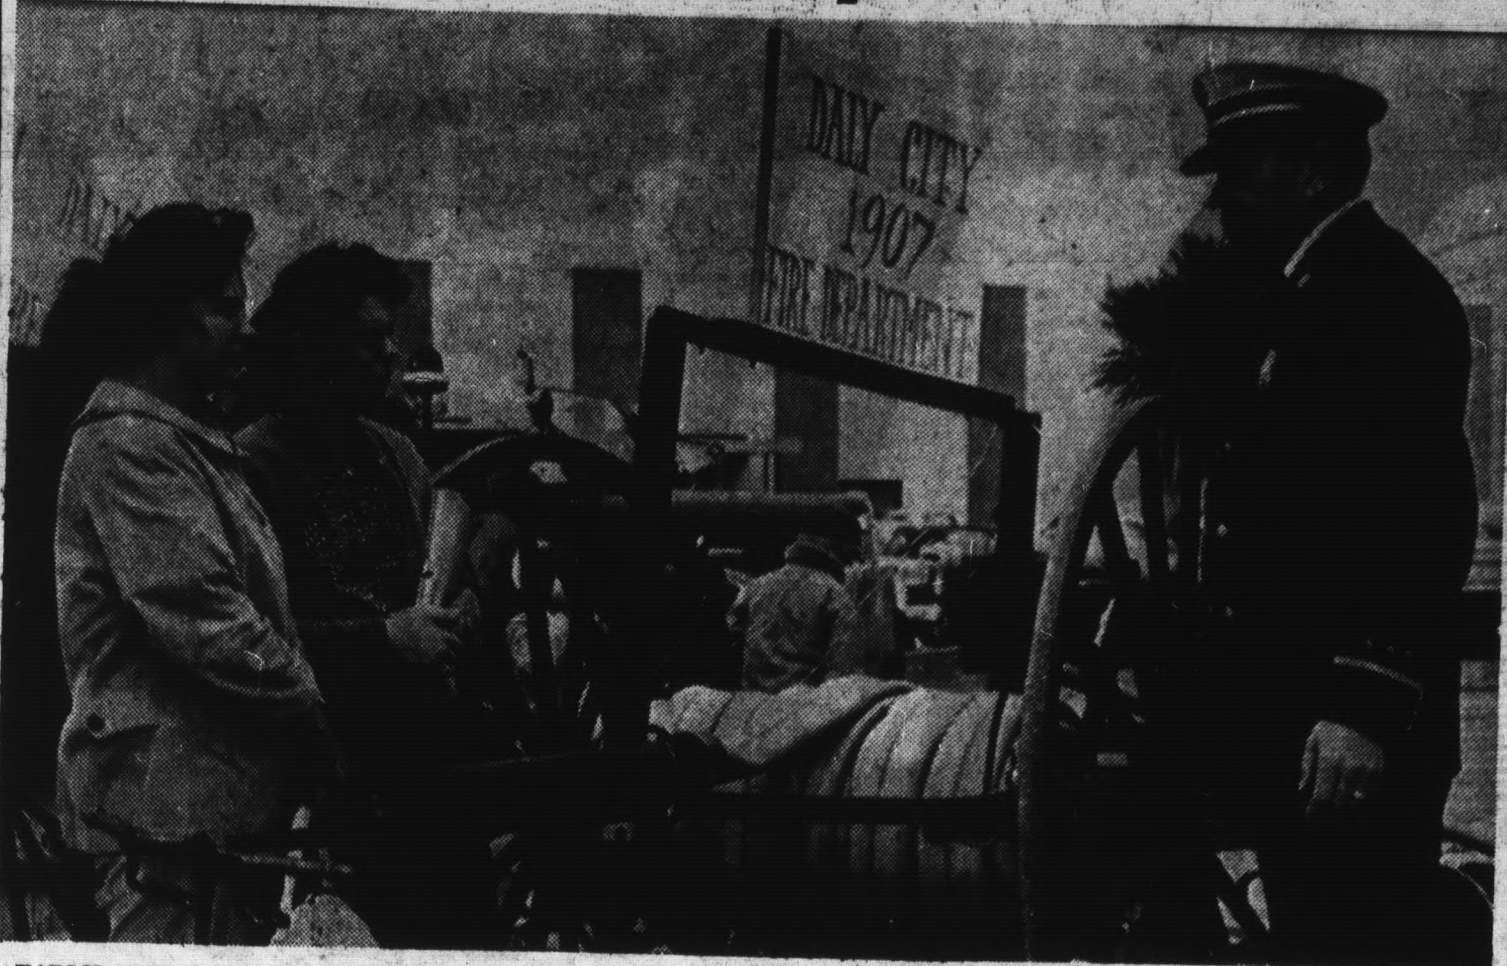

Mrs. Lucille Schaylor of 219 Milagra drive, who has no children of her own, offered to be their "nana" and stay in the home each night on the "graveyard shift."

Tin Stolen in Bayshore City

Theft of $600 worth of pure tin was reported to the sheriff's office last week by the Crown Cork and Seal company of Bayshore City.

James E. Burns, manager of industrial relations, told deputies that the tin was in foot-long bars in five cardboard containers.

A Free History Lesson

EARLY HISTORY — Battalion Chief Melvin Hanson of the Daly City Fire department explains how this early piece of firefighting equipment was used by the department. His listeners are Mrs. Don Stoughton and Shirley Stoughton who paused on a shopping excursion in the Westlake Shopping center to view this and other department exhibits. The equipment was being displayed in connection with the observance of Fire Service day throughout Daly City.

Officer Hurt In Pacifica

A Pacifica policeman and an 18-year-old Daly City Coast Guardsman were injured in a head-on collision late Friday morning on the winding upgrade of Sea Bowl drive on the Coastside.

Officer Donald Joice, 37, is at his home today, at 827 Crespi drive, Pacifica, recuperating from lacerations of the forehead and a mild concussion. Thomas Leupp, who is stationed at the Alameda Naval Station and whose mother is Mrs. Charles Leupp, 1047 Eighty-seventh street, Daly City, was transferred to the navy hospital in Alameda. Both men were treated at Peninsula hospital, where Leupp complained of pains in his jaw, neck and right shoulder. He suffered lacerations of the head and chin, but had no fractures.

The accident totally destroyed the police car and badly damaged the front of Leupp's vehicle.

According to a California Highway Patrol report, Leupp, who was travelling westward, turned his head to look at something and his car drifted over the center line into the path of Joice's auto.

Pacifica police said Leupp was driving on a learner's permit.

CSM Dean Heads Dimes Health Career Program

Philip D. Morse, dean of students at San Bruno college, has been named chairman of the newly formed selections committee of the March of Dimes health career awards program in San Mateo county.

Chosen as chairman of the group of five local leaders, Morse disclosed that there will be five health awards made in 1963.

Other members of the committee who elected Morse their chairman include: Paul V. Claudon, principal of Capuchino High

Firemen Attend Conference

Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander and Fireman Maurice Sciaroni of the Daly City Fire Alarm bureau attended an International Municipal Signalman's Association conference in Oakland last week. The discussions included fire alarm systems in school and mercantile, the use of microwave radio in conjunction with fire alarm and radio communications.

SHOT FIRED

Rebecca M. Smith, 182 Los Olivos avenue, reported to Daly City police last week that someone had shot a hole through her bedroom window.

Valor Medal To Be Given To Policeman

Edward Fitzgerald, state harbor policeman who lives at 628 Manilla way, Colma, will be honored with a state medal of valor award on Saturday, by Governor Brown. Attorney General Mosk and other state leaders. Twenty-two recipients of the awards will be present. The citation reads: "On October 28, 1962, Officer Edward Fitzgerald of the harbor police force of the San Francisco Port Authority singlehandedly captured a bank bandit who had robbed a branch of the Crocker-Anglo National Bank of San Francisco."

"Officer Fitzgerald was driving a patrol car on official business and at the corner of First and Mission streets was hailed by the driver and passenger in a taxicab and requested to apprehend a suspected bank robber who had commandeered another taxicab and was making his escape."

"Officer Fitzgerald promptly turned on his red light, notified the police by radio, and skillfully followed the suspect's vehicle until he succeeded in bringing it to a halt. He captured and searched the bank robber at gunpoint and turned him over to the San Francisco police. In the bank bandit's possession was $1700 of funds taken from the Crocker-Anglo National Bank."

Thunderbird Hotel Visit For Friday Seafoodorama

ON FRIDAYS my thoughts usually turn to a seafood dinner—and last Friday was no exception. Hearing manager Bill Donnelly rave about the Thunderbird hotel's Friday night Seafoodorama was convincing enough to head me in that direction. Yours Truly in one of the plush Crystal Dining room leather booths and issued instructions on the buffet tour. With plate in hand, I started the culinary journey around the stainless steel, glass-enclosed display of mouth watering food—which was as appealing as a cruise down the Nile while interviewing Cleopatra. Crisp, cool salads of every description started the food parade; followed by an extravaganza of gastronomic delicacies that would make "Father Neptune" proud to behold. There came the hot entrees—of which there are many. For those who don't relish seafood (don't see how you can pass it up), there is Chicken Cacciatore. The Thunderbird hotel offers opulent dining at it's best—whether your choice is the Seafoodorama, a special Chateaubriand (for two), or roast young Long Island duckling smothered with brandied black cherry sauce, wild rice and a spiced peach. You won't have to take along Junior's piggy bank to pay the tab—prices are moderate. After dinner, suggest you take an inspection tour of the beautiful Thunderbird hotel and it's grounds. Plenty of parking space at all times.

Bill Donnelly

BOB ANNIS is now calling the restaurant and cocktail lounge "signals" at the Bit of England. The first big play is the Sunday dinner schedule—served from 4 to 9 p.m. This is a new move for the Burlingame club and looks like a right smart one. The head of the house deserves a day and night away from the home stove. Frank Paine, co-owner of Club Waldorf, opened a real estate office from a few steps from the Waldorf's front door. One way or another, this guy is bound to "land" you. An all-guy revue featuring Caroline Richter, a Texas looker and star of film, television, and theater, is due at Bimbo's 365 Theater Restaurant, following Ted Lewis' successful run. New show opening date is Thursday, May 9. My good friend Mischel Corday, the "one-man restaurant," stocked a six months supply of corn flakes for my breakfast visits, but, to date, your Bright Lighter hasn't put in an appearance. The schedule is set for next week, Mischel, and I'll eat 'em up.

In case you were wondering who the nattily attired golfer was down Monterey-Pebble Beach way, last weekend (this gent stands out in a crowd), it was Edward Gerald Sullivan, manager of the Burlingame Hyatt House Hotel, who was taking an away-from-it-all vacation. Ed keeps in condition for these events by working out in the Hyatt House Executive Club weight lifting room. He also never misses a morning dip in the pool. Incidentally, if you'd like a few ski hints, he was also a former ski instructor at Sun Valley, Idaho. Meanwhile, back at the Hyatt House, the main floor dining room and Johnny Kan's new upstairs Chinese cuisine addition are doing capacity business. Entertainment is in full swing in the cocktail lounge and dining room. The West revue is a dandy. Because of the many requests of its customers, Rocca's restaurant (normally closed on Sundays) will remain open Mother's Day, Sunday, May 12. Dinner served from 3 p.m. on.

Ed Sullivan

ERWIN BEST, MANAGING OPERATOR of the swank San Mateo Benjamin Franklin Hotel, is responsible for the popular Ramos Fliz recipe (served with any club breakfast in the Greenwillow Room). Mr. Best was so taken by this drink during a trip to New Orleans that the restaurant owner gave him the recipe. As a result, the Benjamin Franklin Hotel patrons are reaping from the recipe's benefits. According to Finocchio's dancer Stormy Lee, it's not what it seems to electrify oneself so as to electrify audiences. He climaxes his novel dance by turning on electric lights distributed over his body. Thus, he really dazzles them. But every so often, there's a short circuit, or something, and he gets a shock, which causes him to jump. In turn, the audience roars with laughter. "It's a shocking way to make a living," comments Lee. Never knew until now that Bodee Cominoli, host-owner of the Woodside Pioneer Hotel, had written a couple of books—and are ready for printing. Seems Miss Cominoli's talents in the business world are unlimited.

DENNIS DAY, one of the best known names and talents in show business today, is rocking the Circus Reno theater-restaurant at the Nugget Casino in Sparks (East Reno), Nevada with a vocal-comedy performance that is surely one of the strongest ever to grace the headline spot in the Nugget's lavish International Folies show. Appearing on the same showbill are the pert and powerful Chordettes. The four female songbirds draw enthusiastic raves from the audience with their fast-paced performance and clearly prove a sparkling highlight in the colorful production. Rounding out the production: The George Arnold singers and dancers, and Little Bertha, the Nugget's performing elephant. Gogi Grant opens in the star spot May 9, along with Jerry Van Dyke. Understand two visitors to Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club, last weekend, were from Luck, Wisconsin—and were.

Chalet Open Until 5 A.M.

Frank Martinelli, who could easily build another San Jose Winchester House, is still remodeling his Belmont Chalet Steak Pit. He has informed me, between hammer beats, that tonight and tomorrow night (and possibly from now on) the Chalet will stay open from 2 a.m. to 5 a.m. serving breakfast; also entertainment and dancing. A minimum charge of two dollars per person. Pat Yankee and The Sinners will provide the Jazz Ragtime entertainment, this weekend. This is the first after-hour spot on the Peninsula, as far as I know.

Have often raved about the delicious pancakes at Uncle John's many houses. After enjoying a cheeseburger and a bowl of Western chile with Owner Jack Holder at his Palo Alto branch, it's equal billing from now on.

Doug Hart, Mori's Point Inn "wheeler," reminds me of a ship's master. He sits back in a corner chair and calls the restaurant and cocktail lounge signals like he was walking the bridge.

Nick Gust Has Plans

Understand Nick Gust, the "Arnie Palmer" of the coast, is planning a golf tournament, this month, and will give out special instructions. Sports are a little out of my typewriter line, but for being such a good sport, Nick, the instructions will appear next week. Might even sponsor Milt Tenini of the Princeton Inn, if the odds are right—and I'll bet Milt doesn't know a "birdie" from a seagull.

Stand by for action: The Bib is due next Monday. Please don't confuse this with "The birds."

Lion's Den Style Show

The Red Lion, in Hillsdale Shopping center, features a well-attended commented fashion show on Thursdays during luncheon from 12:30 to 2 p.m. It's presented by Lucy May Olson for Livingston's.

One of Frank Torres' favorite expressions regarding his Monterey Beach Hotel is "We serve seafood from the ocean within." In eatin' words, they make a specialty of seafood and Peruvian foods.

The petit fours at Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli are prepared by a baker who does nothing else. He comes in every Friday to prepare the weekend supply.

Neal Smith's Smorgasbord

Neal Smith, manager of Palo Alto's Old Stanford Barn, says when it comes to "smorgasbord" on a big scale, why not try the entrees from all the different restaurants in the "Barn." You have a choice of Farmer Joe's German and American foods, Chinese dishes from the Rooster, Italian food and pizza from Frederico Italiano, Seafood selections from Mel's Seafood and Salads, Ranch Style Bar-B-q steaks and hamburgers, Tio's Mexican delights, and Joe-An's pastries for desserts, along with ice cream from the Old Barn Fountain. According to Neal, this could come under the heading of an "International Smorgasbord."

Things like this can happen—and do: Sil Oliva, "Mr. Exposition Fish Grotto," handicapped the Bay Meadows race card, last Tuesday. He selected the horses on whose noses his two bucks would appear. But, alas, some out-of-town friends stopped in the restaurant for lunch, and Mr. Oliva spent the afternoon with them. Result: Five winners and no bets down.

Enrico Sports New Look

Enrico Romano is sporting a new "look" and wardrobe, these days. Seems he received a call from filmland to lose 20 pounds for future television action. When Enrico was down that way some months back, he was slim and trim. However, that was several hundred pizzas ago. "Our boy" is now fit and ready for "let 'em roll."

Mayor Norman Rowland of Palm Beach Gardens, Florida, was a recent diner at Lew Lehr's and he left praising the wonderful steaks at Lew's—wanted him to open a similar steak house in Florida.

Highlights of dining at Keith's Chicken House in Burlingame are the wonderful steaks and sea foods. One can dine at reasonable prices that will amaze you. Open seven days a week. Great place for mother on her day.

Big Year for the Inn

With the expert supervision of Manager Phil Rauscher, the International Inn Restaurant has enjoyed one of its most lucrative years. According to Phil, '63 is starting out to be another "whopper." Four banquet rooms, tend to those special parties; plus a breakfast, lunch and dinner menu for all appetites.

Frank and Horky Schy are steady commuters to Mexico City. These are not vacation treks, but business trips to add exciting recipes to their Horky's Mexican menus—Palo Alto and Belmont are the locations.

Pancho's colorful Mexican cafe in Redwood City is getting a deluge of orders for carry-out Mexican delicacies now that the deluge of rain has finally subsided—and picnic weather is back.

HOME & GARDENS

Horse Chestnut Is Plant of the Week

Summer Color Standbys Ready

By IVA NEWMAN

Gardeners the world over have certain shrubs they rely on more than others. Not that they are any more spectacular in bloom, but simply because they have proved themselves time and again, these shrubs have become standbys for garden display.

In California, we have many standbys, but even here, there are a few which warrant special attention. At this time let's consider some that help to carry the summer garden.

Abelia is one of these. Not a shrub which you'll see at garden shows, but one which you see a great deal of in California gardens. The commonest form is "Glossy Abelia" (Abelia grandiflora), a shiny leaved shrub of medium height which bears masses of fragrant white, tubular flowers throughout the summer. It seems indifferent to California's summer drought and always looks fresh and green no matter what care you give it. Another variety found in California gardens is the "Pink Abelia" (Abelia Edward Goucheri), more compact in growth, but with the same shiny character to its foliage.

Gardeners have a tendency to shear abelias and they lend themselves well to such handling, especially in flowering hedges. The California Association of Nurserymen suggest using them less formally, however, pruning by selection of branches rather than shearing. Such practice will convert the abelia into a more open and graceful shrub, resulting in more bloom because the older spent wood is removed leaving the fresh new blooming branches.

A second standby for summer display in California is the hydrangea, a shrub of truly spectacular bloom. The large leaves are not in the least unattractive and actually make their own contribution to the garden during spring and summer. But the great beauty of this deciduous shrub lies in the huge terminal blossoms which crown each woody stem.

Flower color ranges from white through shades of rose and pink to a rich blue. The latter requires iron in the soil to maintain its blue color, but this is easily supplied by using aluminum sulphate during the blooming period. Hydrangeas make wonderful table displays when cut and the flowers.

A new rose from Howards of Hemet rose growers will be awarded the non-member entering the best rose bloom.

The show will be open to the public from 1:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday. There is no admission charge.

can be hung upside down in a garage or basement to dry, after which they can be used for months in dry arrangements. Give the shrubs a good rich soil and mulch around them with steer manure or peat at the beginning of summer. Water them well and this rapid grower will give an all summer display.

The escallonia is a third family of shrubs which can be heavily relied upon for summer color. They range in size from the semi-compact Red Escallonia (Escallonia rubra), up to the tall-growing Pink Escallonia (E. organensis). In between are numerous named varieties such as the red "F. C. Ball" and pink "Apple Blossom," which give the gardener a wide variety to choose from.

Before the meeting, a fuchsia-pinning demonstration will be held in the fuchsia gardens adjacent to the Hall of Flowers. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Even the smallest escallonia make good sized shrubs, and the larger ones can be easily trained into small trees. They bear their flowers in terminal clusters and should be given an annual pruning in winter so that plenty of new wood will develop to carry more bloom the following year.

Escallonia have considerable appeal for busy or lazy gardeners since they are practically indestructible and withstand not only drought, but the onslaught of wind or seashore conditions. The foliage is always green and glossy and the flower clusters come each year whether you prune the shrubs or not. An all-around good shrub, escallonia makes a fine informal hedge or screen.

Terra Nova Pool Opens Weekends

The Terra Nova High school heated pool is open every Saturday and Sunday for recreational swimming between the hours 1 and 5 p.m., the Pacific Recreation department announces.

The "Red Horse Chestnut," Aesculus carnea, is The Times Plant of the Week. Our beautiful specimen tree is one of the grounds of the Christensen Nursery, 935 County road, Belmont. It was set out from a five-gallon container when the nursery was landscaped in 1946. It is now about 20 feet high with a spread of 15 feet or over.

The horse chestnut gets its name of Aesculus (es'kew-lus) from the classical Latin name of an oak that bears edible acorns. It was given to the horse chestnut by Linnaeus, although the seeds are worthless. The horse chestnut is one of the most highly prized street trees in the United States. The common horse chestnut casts the densest shade of almost any cultivated tree. It is for this reason it is such a welcome street tree even though its flowers and fruits do cause some litter.

As the accompanying picture shows, the red horse chestnut is an erect, round-headed tree that puts on a spectacular late spring display of soft pink to dark red flowers. The striking blooms are borne in loose, triangular spikes about eight inches long. Individual flowers are around one inch in diameter and each spring the tree is lavishly covered with a profusion of these colorful spikes.

Sunset calls it a well behaved flowering tree for summer shade. It is all of that. It has an erect, straight trunk and a deep root system, two very important items for street and patio or lawn trees, growth that produces results without years of waiting. While this tree will tolerate drought to some extent it grows best in moist, cool, well-drained soil.

Once properly planted, the horse chestnut requires very little care. No special feeding schedule is necessary but a once-a-year application of balanced fertilizer, applied as new growth starts in the spring will benefit both foliage and flowers. Water is another thing as this tree definitely likes moisture so a once-a-month soaking should be given. At Christensen's the tree gets all the water that drains from the container plants at its base. It will need no spraying as it is relatively free of both insect pests and diseases and pruning is limited to shaping an unruly branch. This should be done during the winter or early in spring before new growth starts.

The leaves of the horse chestnut are particularly lovely. They are a shiny, medium to light green and composed of five leaflets six to eight inches long arranged in a circle similar to a fully opened fan. These leaves are among the first to drop in the fall leaving the bare branches decorated with the brown, globe-like, prickly seed pods.

There is a slight variation in the flower coloring of this horse chestnut and home owners unfamiliar with this spring-flowering, deciduous tree should make their selection at this time of year when the trees are in flower. Aesculus carnea britii has bright scarlet flowers that do not vary in their intensity.

A close relative of the horse chestnut is the California Buckeye, Aesculus californica, which dots the hillside all over San Mateo county. However, the buckeye has shallow, spreading roots that make it a problem for both garden and street planting. Our tree of the week has some 25 other known relatives, many from North America and many in cultivation but the "Red Horse Chestnut," Aesculus carnea, has the best reputation for beauty and good growth habits.
